About Burgundy-Franche-Comté

Burgundy-Franche-Comté has become an essential French destination. Comprising 8 departments, the region becomes the 5th largest in France, home to 2.9 million inhabitants and covering a total surface area of 47,800km². With regards to tourism in particular, in this new region Burgundy and Franche-Comté complement each other perfectly and their «union» has greatly enhanced the tourism offer available to visitors.

An ideal location in the heart of France

Burgundy-Franche-Comté region provides an important breathing space between two of the wealthiest and most densely populated regions of France; the Paris and Lyon basins. It sits directly near Switzerland and other European countries, such as Belgium and the Netherlands. Burgundy-Franche-Comté can be proud of its undeniable attractiveness for wine, fine gastronomy and culture lovers from further afield thanks to its many touristic advantages. Accessible by train, road and air, the whole region is a perfect destination for weekend breaks or longer holidays. It is ideal for getting away from it all and recharging the batteries, while enjoying the French lifestyle.
